DRAFT

January XX, 2005

I support the proposed merger between SBC Communications and AT&T. This transaction will blend the best of both companies to create a new one with the capabilities to bring the latest Internet protocol and other advanced technologies to customers in California, across the country, and around the globe.

With traditional communications companies facing significant competition from cable, wireless, and VoIP companies, the combined company will be better positioned to more quickly bring to market new services on more cost-efficient networks.

It brings together two companies with complementary strengths, product sets and customer bases to capitalize on the opportunities afforded by America's evolving telecommunications industry in the Internet age. This deal is about being best positioned to compete in the new IP world.

The merger of SBC and AT&T is an important next step in the evolution of the global communications industry.
