ITEM 8.01 OTHER EVENTS.

On March 11, 2005, the Dane County Circuit Court dismissed a petition for judicial review of the administrative law judge's decision to approve the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources ("WDNR") issuance of a permit for wetlands and waterways alterations and construction on the bed of Lake Michigan ("Chapter 30 permit") in connection with the construction of the proposed coal-fired generating units at the Elm Road Generation Station. The Court based its decision on procedural grounds and not on the merits of the administrative law judge's decision. The permit was issued by the WDNR in November 2004 following a contested case hearing. Two parties, S.C. Johnson and Son, Inc. and Sierra Club, filed for judicial review of that decision with the Court in December 2004. Under Wisconsin law, the opponents may appeal the Court's decision to dismiss the petition for judicial review.

We continue to work with the WDNR and other agencies to obtain the remaining permits and approvals necessary for the project and to defend those permits that have been obtained, but are being challenged. We continue to pursue the appeal with the Wisconsin Supreme Court of the Dane County Circuit Court decision that vacated the Certificate of Necessity and Public Convenience for the project and remanded it back to the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin for additional proceedings. The Wisconsin Supreme Court will hear oral arguments in this matter on March 30, 2005, and we anticipate a decision to be issued no later than June 30, 2005.
