Welcome to the first edition of CommScope and Andrew Transition News, our new vehicle for communicating with everyone about the progress of bringing together our two strong companies.

This merger is an exciting opportunity, but it is also a large and complex process. We are reviewing all businesses, defining roles and responsibilities and creating action plans. We are working through the issues systematically, and we appreciate your patience as we do so. We know that you have questions, and we intend to provide you with answers and updates as we move forward.

Here is what you can expect:

- 1) Ongoing transition news
- 2) Answers to many frequently asked employee questions related to the transition
- 3) Direct, no-nonsense communication from management once decisions have been made

Please submit your transition questions to: communications@commscope.com

We will review employee feedback and address appropriate questions in future editions of CommScope and Andrew Transition News. We encourage you to discuss issues, concerns or questions with your manager or Human Resources contact or you can use the email address listed above to ask your transition question. Please note that we may not be able to answer all questions sent to this email in upcoming news updates.

We intend to continue investing in the combined business for profitable growth. As always, employees of both companies will be the most important element to the continued success of the combined company. We intend to communicate our vision for the company and share transition news with all employees as quickly as we can. The transition leadership and teams have the authority and responsibility for making the transition process a success. We need and expect all employees to support their efforts. Hart-Scott-Rodino filings have been made

Like any companies conducting a merger of this kind, CommScope and Andrew were required to submit their pre-merger notification filings as required under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976, as amended. The two companies took this important step on Monday, July 16, 2007. These filings are one of the typical requirements in the United States for large, domestic mergers.

Forward-Looking Statements

This document may contain forward-looking statements regarding, among other things, the proposed business combination between CommScope and Andrew and the anticipated consequences and benefits of such transaction, and other financial and operational items relating to CommScope and Andrew. These risks and uncertainties could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed in or implied by the forward-looking statements, and therefore should be carefully considered. Relevant risks and uncertainties relating to the proposed transaction include, but are not limited to: the fact that Andrew may be required to write off a portion of the $412 million of Base Station Subsystems goodwill as a non-cash charge to earnings as reported in Andrew's quarterly report on Form 10-Q for the period ended March 31, 2007; the risk that required regulatory review and approval may not be obtained in a timely manner, if at all; Andrew's shareholders may not approve the proposed transaction; the anticipated benefits and synergies of the proposed transaction may not be realized; the integration of Andrew's operations with CommScope could be materially delayed or may be more costly or difficult than expected; the proposed transaction may not be consummated; legal proceedings may be commenced by or against CommScope or Andrew. Relevant risks and uncertainties generally applicable to CommScope and Andrew include, but are not limited to: changes in cost and availability of key raw materials and the ability to recover these costs from customers through price increases; customer demand for products and the ability to maintain existing business alliances with key customers or distributors; the risk that internal production capacity and that of contract manufacturers may be insufficient to meet customer demand for products; the risk that customers might cancel orders placed or that orders currently placed may affect order levels in the future; continuing consolidation among customers; competitive pricing and acceptance of products; industry competition and the ability to retain customers through product innovation; possible production disruption due to supplier or contract manufacturer bankruptcy, reorganization or restructuring; successful ongoing operation of our vertical integration activities; ability to achieve expected sales, growth and earnings goals; costs of protecting or defending intellectual property; ability to obtain capital on commercially reasonable terms; regulatory changes affecting us or the industries we serve. For a more complete description of factors that could cause such a difference, please see CommScope's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), which are available on CommScope's website or at www.sec.gov, and Andrew's filings with the SEC, which are available on Andrew's website or at www.sec.gov. In providing forward-looking statements, neither CommScope nor Andrew intends, and neither undertakes any duty or obligation, to update these statements as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.
