Information to be included in the report

Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement

On June 25, 2007 Cambridge Display Technology Limited ("CDT"), a subsidiary of Cambridge Display Technology, Inc. (the "Company"), entered into a patent license agreement (the "License") with a major Japanese chemical company (the "Licensee"). The scope of the License encompasses certain light emitting polymer ("LEP") devices.

The Licensee will pay an upfront fee to CDT within sixty days of the effective date of the agreement (which fee has already been received) and will also pay royalties based on its sales revenues for products which incorporate LEP technology. The Licensee will be obligated to pay CDT a minimum royalty after a period of time after commercialisation by the Licensee of products which incorporate LEP technology. The License is terminable by the Licensee on 12 months' notice.

The foregoing summary of the material terms of the License is qualified in its entirety by reference to the text of the License, which in pertinent part, subject to certain confidentiality obligations, will be filed as an exhibit to the Company's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 30, 2007.
