BSKYB ANNOUNCES BOARD CHANGES

- James Murdoch appointed Chief Executive Officer
- Lord Rothschild appointed Deputy Chairman
- Allan Leighton to become Chairman of Audit Committee
- A further additional Independent Non-Executive Director will be appointed

James Murdoch appointed Chief Executive Officer

The Board of British Sky Broadcasting Group plc ("BSkyB") today announced the appointment of James Murdoch as Chief Executive Officer. He will replace outgoing Chief Executive Tony Ball, effective 4 November 2003. Mr Ball will also resign as a director of the company with effect from 4 November 2003.

James Murdoch was appointed following the unanimous recommendation of a four-member Nomination Committee of non-executive Board members. The Committee was supported by the Executive Search firm Spencer Stuart.

The directors affiliated to News Corporation voluntarily decided not to exercise their votes in the Board resolution to appoint a new Chief Executive Officer. The independent non-executive directors unanimously endorsed the recommendation of the Nomination Committee.

James Murdoch will be resigning from the Boards of both the News Corporation Ltd and NDS Group plc immediately.

Lord Rothschild appointed Deputy Chairman

The Board has invited Lord Jacob Rothschild to join the Board and to fill the new role of non-executive Deputy Chairman and is delighted that he has accepted. He will take up the post on 17 November 2003.

Board Committee

The Board also announced today the appointment of Allan Leighton as Chairman of the Audit Committee. He will take up this position upon the retirement from the Board of the Committee's current Chairman, Philip Bowman, after the company's AGM on 14 November.

New Independent Non-Executive Director

Following Philip Bowman's retirement from the Board, the Board has instigated a search for a new independent non-executive director.

The Nomination Committee said: "After a rigorous search and nomination process, we are pleased, having considered a wide group of excellent candidates, to have found in James Murdoch a candidate in whom we are unanimously confident can lead Sky forward to greater success."

Rupert Murdoch, Chairman of BSKyB, said: " The Board and I are pleased that the Nomination Committee has completed its task and it is unanimous in its conviction that James is the right man for this job. He follows a series of successful Chief Executives - Sam Chisholm, Mark Booth and Tony Ball. I feel confident that James will carry on their work and continue the company's success. It is a mark of BSKyB's stature that the Board has been able to attract a man of Lord Rothschild's calibre and we are delighted that he has accepted the post of Deputy Chairman. I would also like to thank Allan Leighton for taking on his new role - adding further to his significant contribution to the company since joining the Board in 1999."

James Murdoch said: "Sky is one of a very small group of Britain's great new industrial companies. It is a world leader in multichannel television and an innovative business which has, since its inception, been at the forefront in technological and creative advance. It is a privilege to have the opportunity to play a part in the company's future. I particularly look forward to working with the people at Sky who have played such a key role in its success, and to working for all the shareholders to deliver even greater value."

Tony Ball said: "Sky is a fantastic company and I have greatly enjoyed leading it. I am pleased that the Board has chosen James to succeed me. James is an outstanding executive whom I know has the ability and drive to take the company forward and I wish him all the best in his new role."

We looked at a large number of possible candidates worldwide. We short-listed seven candidates whom the Nominations Committee interviewed and from amongst whom they were able to make their recommendation to the board. The list included three highly qualified external CEOs and four internal candidates including James Murdoch."
