Q & As

Do Verizon shareowners need to approve the transaction?

Approval of the merger by Verizon shareowners is not needed because Verizon will be increasing its outstanding shares by less than 4.5%, or about 132.1 million Verizon shares, which is less than the 20% threshold set by the New York Stock Exchange for required shareholder votes. However, MCI is required to obtain shareholder approval for the merger, and it will as promptly as reasonably practicable to hold a meeting of its shareowners for the purpose of obtaining the approval with respect to the adoption of the Merger Agreement.

When will the deal close? What approvals are necessary?

We expect this deal to close in approximately a year. We will be required to obtain regulatory approval from the Department of Justice, the FCC and certain state regulatory agencies.

What do Verizon shareowners need to do?

No action is necessary for Verizon shareowners.

What do MCI shareowners receive?

MCI shareowners will receive 0.4062 shares of Verizon common stock for each common share of MCI. This is worth $4.795 billion and equivalent to $14.75 per MCI share, based on Verizon's closing price on Friday, Feb. 11. MCI shareowners will also receive $1.50 per MCI share in cash, worth $488 million. This consideration is subject to adjustment at closing and may be decreased based on MCI's bankruptcy and international tax claims-related experience. In addition, MCI will pay its shareowners quarterly and special dividends of $4.50 per share, worth $1.463 billion. This includes a 40-cent-per-share quarterly dividend approved by the MCI Board on Friday, Feb 11. In total, the transaction values MCI shares at $20.75 a share, or $6.746 billion.

Will Verizon shareowners also receive a special dividend?

No. The special dividend is being paid by MCI to its shareowners as part of the consideration paid.

Do Verizon shareowners have to exchange their shares?

No. All Verizon stock certificates remain valid and should not be sent in for exchange. If you are still holding GTE and/or NYNEX stock certificates, those must be exchanged for Verizon common stock under their respective merger agreements.

What is going to happen to the Verizon dividend? Why aren't you raising the dividend?
