NUVELO AND ARCA BIOPHARMA MERGER AGREEMENT CREATES LATE-STAGE
CARDIOVASCULAR BIOTECHNOLOGY COMPANY

Nuvelo and ARCA biopharma have entered a definitive merger agreement, creating a late-stage biotechnology company with a near-term commercial opportunity with Gencaro, as well as a mid-stage pipeline asset, novel short-acting anticoagulant NU172, to drive long-term growth.

COMPANY FOCUS

The merger represents a value-creating opportunity to integrate the two companies' significant assets into an attractive cardiovascular portfolio:

Gencaro, (trade name pending FDA approval), a Near-term Commercial Product Opportunity:

Genetically-targeted beta-blocker with unique vasodilating properties for the treatment of heart failure.

Phase 3 data showed statistically significant results for major clinical endpoints including combined heart failure hospitalization and all-cause mortality in the entire patient population studied, and even greater efficacy in a genetically targeted subpopulation, highlighting its differentiated profile and efficacy in heart failure patients.

The New Drug Application (NDA) for Gencaro has been accepted for review by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) with a PDUFA date of May 31, 2009. Pending a positive regulatory decision, commercialization is expected in the first half of 2010.

NU172, a Catalyst for Long-term Growth:

Short-acting anticoagulant that is being tested as a potential new therapy in indications where heparin and protamine are the current standard of care, such as coronary artery bypass graft (CABG) surgery, kidney dialysis and a variety of vascular surgical and coronary interventions.

Edgar Filing: NUVELO INC - Form 425

Phase 2 trial evaluating NU172 in CABG patients is expected to begin in the fourth quarter of 2008 or the first quarter of 2009.

RESOURCES TO PROVIDE SOLID FOUNDATION

The cash position of the combined company at the close of the transaction is expected to fund operations at least through 2009, including the potential FDA advisory meeting in the first half of 2009, and anticipated regulatory approval for Gencaro in mid 2009.

LOCATIONS AND COMPANY SIZE

The combined company will be headquartered in Broomfield, CO and will keep facilities in both San Carlos, CA and Broomfield in order to facilitate a seamless Gencaro regulatory process and NU172 development. The combined management team will work together to integrate the two companies, with an anticipated initial combined workforce of 60-70 employees.

MANAGEMENT AND BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Chief Executive Officer: Richard B. Brewer, current president and CEO of ARCA, former president and CEO of Scios and senior vice president of sales and marketing of Genentech;

Chief Science and Medical Officer: Michael R. Bristow, MD, PhD, current chairman and CSMO at ARCA and former CSMO at Myogen;

The combined company's board of directors will include Dr. Bristow, Mr. Brewer, Dr. J. William Freytag, Dr. Jean-François Formela and John Zabriskie from ARCA's current board, and Dr. Ted W. Love, Dr. Burton E. Sobel, and Mary K. Pendergast from Nuvelo's current board. Dr. Bristow will serve as chairman of the board.

TERMS OF THE PROPOSED TRANSACTION

Under the terms of the definitive merger agreement, a wholly owned subsidiary of Nuvelo will be merged with and into ARCA and ARCA will become a wholly owned subsidiary of Nuvelo. Under the agreement, Nuvelo will issue new shares of its common stock to ARCA common and preferred stockholders and assume outstanding options and warrants to acquire capital stock of ARCA such that these stockholders, option holders and warrant holders are expected to own or have the right to acquire approximately 67 percent of the common stock of the combined company on a fully-diluted basis, using the treasury stock method. Current Nuvelo stockholders are expected to own approximately 33 percent of the common stock of the combined company on a fully-diluted basis, using the treasury stock method.

The boards of directors of both Nuvelo and ARCA have approved the definitive merger agreement. The transaction is structured as a tax-free reorganization for federal income tax purposes. Consummation of the transaction is subject to closing conditions, including among other things:

the filing by Nuvelo of a registration statement on Form S-4 with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") with respect to the registration of the shares of Nuvelo common stock to be issued in the merger, and a declaration of its effectiveness by the SEC;

approval and adoption of the merger agreement and merger by the requisite vote of the stockholders of ARCA;

approval of the issuance of shares of Nuvelo common stock in connection with the merger by the requisite vote of Nuvelo stockholders; and conditional approval for the listing of Nuvelo common stock to be issued in the Merger on any of the Nasdaq Global Select Market, Nasdaq Global Market or Nasdaq Capital Market.

Subject to stockholder approval and customary closing conditions, the transaction is expected to close by the end of this year or early 2009. The officers and directors of ARCA, as well as certain of its significant stockholders and certain Nuvelo stockholders have executed voting agreements in favor of the transaction. Nuvelo expects to file a Form S-4 and related proxy statement/prospectus with the SEC in the coming weeks. If the merger is consummated, the combined company is expected to be renamed ARCA biopharma, Inc., and to apply to change its ticker symbol on the Nasdaq exchange. In order to comply with Nasdaq listing requirements, Nuvelo intends to seek stockholder approval to effect a reverse stock split of its common stock in conjunction with the closing of this transaction.

Nuvelo was advised in the transaction by Jefferies & Company and ARCA was advised by J.P. Morgan.
