Dear Atty. Rausa-Chan:

This is in reference to the attached news article entitled "PLDT sees P5.9-B net income for 2002" published in the February 27, 2003 issue of The Philippine Star (Internet Edition). The article reported that:

Telecommunications giant Philippine Long Distance Telephone Co. (PLDT) is looking at a consolidated net income for 2002 of P5.9 billion, or 72.6 percent more than the previous year, mainly driven by wireless subsidiary Smart Communications.

This as PLDT revealed that it is investing about P15 billion this year both for its fixed and mobile businesses, even as the company expects to further reduce debt levels of its landline business and projects higher dividend payout from its investments in Smart.

PLDT president and chief executive officer Manuel V. Pangilinan expressed optimism that the company's consolidated net income for 2002 will hit around P5.9 billion, representing a 72.6 percent growth from its P3.418 billion net income registered in 2001. PLDT was supposed to release its 2002 financial report this month but moved it to next month following the change in its external auditors. x x x

We would like to request for clarification/confirmation of the said news article.

In view of this, please make a prompt, full, fair and accurate written disclosure on the foregoing matter before 11:00 a.m. today, February 27, 2003, so that we may properly apprise the Trading Participants and the investing public of the same.

Respectfully yours,

RAQUEL R. ANGELES
