EXPLANATORY NOTE

On August 8, 2006, Shurgard Storage Centers, Inc. and Public Storage, Inc. entered into a Memorandum of Understanding related to a litigation settlement, subject to court and other approvals, of an action pending in Superior Court of Washington, County of King at Seattle captioned Doris Staer v. Shurgard Storage Centers, Inc., et al. The suit was filed as a putative class action on behalf of holders of Shurgard common stock against Shurgard and certain of the members of its Board of Directors related to the proposed merger between Public Storage and Shurgard. Pursuant to the Memorandum of Understanding, Shurgard and Public Storage agreed to disclose certain additional information. This information should be read carefully together with the joint proxy statement/prospectus that Public Storage and Shurgard have previously filed with the SEC and mailed to their respective shareholders in connection with the proposed merger.

SUPPLEMENTAL DISCLOSURE

In the process of evaluating the strategic alternatives available to Shurgard, the Shurgard board of directors considered selling Shurgard's European operations separately. However, after conducting an auction process that sought bids for both Shurgard's European operations and U.S. operations separately, as well as for the entire company, the Shurgard board determined that a transaction for the entire company in a single transaction would likely result in a higher total value than selling the company in separate parts.

In addition to the bid received from Public Storage, on January 12, 2006, Shurgard received five non-binding preliminary bids from third parties, two of which were for the entire company and three of which were for only Shurgard's European operations. The two preliminary bidders that submitted a bid for the entire company proposed $51.00 and $49.49 (on an implied value basis), respectively, for each outstanding share of Shurgard common stock, representing approximately 12.9% and 15.4% less, respectively, than the proposed price reflected in Public Storage's preliminary bid for the entire company (based on the closing price of Public Storage common stock on January 12, 2006). The three preliminary bidders that expressed an interest in acquiring only Shurgard's European operations proposed a purchase price for those operations of 1.05 billion euros, 1 billion euros and 868 million euros, respectively, or $1.26 billion, $1.20 billion and $1.04 billion, respectively, based on currency prices at the close of trading in New York on January 12, 2006.

At a meeting of Shurgard's independent directors on March 5, 2006, the independent directors noted that the combined value of the highest offer submitted in the bidding process for Shurgard's European operations and the highest offer for Shurgard's U.S. operations was less than the implied value of Public Storage's offer for the entire company. Accordingly, the independent directors determined that, pending resolution of negotiations with Public Storage for a sale of the entire company, Shurgard should take no further action with respect to the revised bid for Shurgard's European operations from the only other remaining bidder in the process at the time, the acquisition group that included Charles K. Barbo, Chairman of the Board of Directors of Shurgard, and David K. Grant, President and Chief Executive Officer of Shurgard.

On January 17, 2006, the Shurgard board of directors approved certain technical amendments to Shurgard's business combination agreements with senior management. The amendments to the business combination agreements were intended (i) to clarify the terms for inclusion of bonus in severance amounts to ensure that a buyer could not reduce bonuses to $0 after a sale and thereby dramatically reduce the amount of severance owed, (ii) to clarify that the business combination agreements would terminate if an executive were to quit other than for "Good Reason" or be fired for "Cause" prior to a business combination, (iii) to clarify that the business combination agreements would terminate on a leave of absence unless otherwise agreed to in writing by Shurgard, and (iv) to add a provision requiring Shurgard (or its successor) to pay for the executive's legal fees in the event of a dispute under the business combination agreement, unless the executive's claim was found to be frivolous or brought in bad faith. Shurgard believes that the changes to the business combination agreements do not affect the amount of severance payable (except potentially for the clarification of the treatment of bonus described in clause (i) above), the types of transactions that would trigger severance payments or the duration of the period after a business combination during which severance payments would be triggered.

Since January 1, 2004, Citigroup Global Markets Inc., one of Shurgard's financial advisors, and affiliates of Citigroup Global Markets Inc. received from Public Storage aggregate fees for corporate and investment banking services unrelated to the merger of approximately $10 million.
