Item 4. Purpose of Transaction.

Dolphin acquired beneficial ownership of the shares of Common Stock to which this Statement relates for investment purposes and to obtain a significant equity interest in the Company.

Dolphin may acquire additional shares or other securities of the Company or sell or otherwise dispose of any or all of the shares or other securities of the Company beneficially owned by it. Although Dolphin has not determined a course of action with respect to the Company, Dolphin may take any other action with respect to the Company or any of its securities in any manner permitted by law.

possible acquisition transaction with the Company and asked to receive the Company's standard confidentiality agreement. Counsel to the Company's Special Committee indicated to Dolphin's counsel that Dolphin would be required to execute a confidentiality agreement that contained standstill provisions in order to be permitted to review certain information about the Company. Dolphin attempted to revise certain terms of the confidentiality agreement and to remove the standstill provisions contained therein. On February 8, 2002, counsel to the Company's Special Committee informed counsel to Dolphin that the standstill provisions would not be removed from the Company's standard confidentiality agreement. On February 11, 2002, Dolphin sent a letter to the Chairman of the Special Committee of the Company, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.1. In such letter, Dolphin indicated its objection to the standstill provisions as well as certain other provisions contained in the confidentiality agreement which the Company required Dolphin to execute. On February 20, 2002, in response to a letter from counsel to the Company's Special Committee, Dolphin sent a letter to the Chairman of the Special Committee of the Company expressing, among other things, its belief that the standstill provisions contained in the Company's form of confidentiality agreement would chill the Company's stated objective of fully exploring a potential sale of the Company. A copy of such letter is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.2. On February 27, 2002, Dolphin sent a letter to the Chairman of the Special Committee of the Company indicating, among other things, that based on the Company's exclusion of legitimate potential bidders for the Company as a result of the standstill provisions in the confidentiality agreement, it would be inappropriate for the Company to agree to any breakup or lockup fee or other agreement that could prove more costly to other potential bidders. A copy of such letter is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.3. On March 14, 2002, Dolphin sent a letter to the Chairman of the Special Committee of the Company, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.4. In such letter, Dolphin, among other things, expressed its belief that the standstill provisions contained in the form of confidentiality agreement which the Company required potential bidders to execute failed to serve any business purpose or benefit to the stockholders of the Company. On May 24, 2002, Dolphin sent a letter to the Chairman of the Special Committee of the Company expressing, among other things, its view for the need for a new auction process where neither standstill provisions nor undue burdens would be utilized to repel potential bidders for the Company. A copy of such letter is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.5
