24. Is the fund a party to any litigation or administrative proceeding?

[X] Yes [] No

If Yes, describe the nature of any litigation or proceeding and the position taken by the fund in that litigation:

1) BMCA

Adversary proceeding to avoid fraudulent transfer and to recover proceeds. The allegedly fraudulent transfer in question took place in 1994 when GAF Building Materials Corporation (□GAF BMC□), a predecessor of G-I, transferred substantially all of its operating assets to a wholly-owned subsidiary created for that purpose, Defendant Building Materials Corporation of America (□BMCA□). BMCA subsequently conveyed interests in such assets to other entities on more than one occasion, including (i) in or about 1999, when BMCA established and capitalized certain subsidiaries, Defendant Building Materials Investment Corporation (["BMMC"]); and (ii) in December 2000, when BMCA, BMIC, and BMMC granted a first lien on substantially all of their assets in favor of certain lending banks and a second lien in favor of several entities, including Managed High Yield Trust, that held publicly issued notes issued by BMCA. The allegations state that the transfer in question took place to evade large actual and potential liabilities for pending and anticipated claims for personal injury torts and wrongful death attributable to asbestos and asbestos-containing products.

Edgar Filing: PUTNAM MANAGED HIGH YIELD TRUST - Form N-8F/A

2) Adelpia

The Creditors Committee in the bankruptcy proceeding of Adelpia Communications Corporation is seeking leave of the Bankruptcy Court to file a complaint against the holders of the Adelpia and its affiliates' senior secured bank debt and against the entities who arranged that debt for the purpose of subordinating it to the claims of the holders of those debtors' high yield, trade and other unsecured debt. The defendants fall into three categories: (1) the investment banks and the agent banks that arranged the Adelpia and Regis Family Entity credit facilities; (2) the Co-Borrowing Lenders, banks that made loans directly to the Adelpia and Regis Family Entity co-borrowers; and (3) the assignees of the Co-Borrowing Lenders, including primarily mutual funds and other non-bank financial institutions that purchased bank loan assignments in the secondary market. Managed High Yield Trust holds Adelpia-related loans and falls in the third category. The complaint alleges that the investment banks and agent banks responsible for arranging the credit facilities structured co-borrowing facilities under which both Regis Family Entities and Adelpia businesses were entitled to borrow and were jointly and severally liable for all amounts borrowed. The allegations, which amount to claims of larceny, fraud, gross negligence, fraudulent transfer and other predicates of liability, state that those who arranged the credit facilities were aware that the Regis Family Entities would borrow against the credit of the Adelpia business co-borrowers and would dissipate the funds borrowed. The complaint also alleges that the banks had access to non-public information that should have made them aware of the accounting fraud at Adelpia. The complaint would have the court impute the knowledge and wrongful actions of the agents and lending banks to the assignees, including Managed High Yield Trust.

25. Is the fund now engaged, or intending to engage, in any business activities other than those necessary for winding up its affairs?

Yes No

If Yes, describe the nature and extent of those activities:
