After you submit your application electronically only, you must mail in a completed and signed Trustee Certification and Agreement, IRS Form W-9, and the first two pages and the signature page of the trust agreement along with your check for $500 or more to fund your investment. Make sure the name of the trust, the date the trust was established and the name of the trustee (and co-trustee if applicable) appear on the pages of the trust agreement you send in.

What is a Uniform Gift to Minors Account?

The Uniform Gift to Minors Act (UGMA) or the Uniform Transfers to Minors Act (UTMA) is a type of custodial account for children. Most states have adopted one form of these uniform acts as a means of transferring ownership of property to children. The Acts allow a person to fund an investment for a child, but limit that child's access to the investment until the child reaches the age of majority. The age of majority is set by state law and typically ranges from 18 to 21. The child is the investment owner, but the parent (or other adult) is named as custodian. The custodian controls the investment until the child is no longer a minor. At that point, the custodial relationship ends and the child controls the investment.
