AMERITRADE ANNOUNCES EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENTS FOR TD AMERITRADE

Omaha, Neb., November 8, 2005 Ameritrade Holding Corporation (NASDAQ: AMTD) today announced several planned executive appointments to lead the combined company of TD Ameritrade following the closing of the Company's acquisition of TD Waterhouse.

Randy MacDonald will continue in his role as chief financial officer and chief administrative officer, and Asiff Hirji will remain chief operating officer for TD Ameritrade. Both MacDonald and Hirji will continue serving in an advisory and strategic capacity in the Office of the Chief Executive (OCE) with Chief Executive Officer Joe Moglia.

They will be joined by Chris Armstrong, who will assume the new role of executive vice president, sales and marketing and will lead the evolution of the combined company into a sales and marketing organization, including a comprehensive branch network and registered investment advisor business.

Armstrong is currently acting president and chief executive officer at TD Waterhouse. Previously he was vice chair, sales and marketing at TD Waterhouse and chairman, president and CEO at TD Waterhouse Bank, N.A. Armstrong joined TD Bank Financial Group in 2000 after more than ten years experience in financial services marketing.

Armstrong received his B.A. degree from University of Virginia and earned an MBA with honors from American University.

Laurine Garrity who is currently vice president, marketing program development at Ameritrade, Inc. will become chief marketing officer for the combined company and will report to Chris Armstrong. Anne Nelson, the current chief marketing officer at Ameritrade will continue to serve the firm in an advisory and consulting capacity.

Garrity, who has been with the Company since January 2005, has 14 years of marketing experience in the financial services industry. Previously she held various marketing leadership and management roles in the mutual funds industry and most recently served as executive vice president for the marketing division at the Dreyfus Corporation. Garrity received her B.A. degree from Barnard College, Columbia University and holds Series 7 and 24 licenses.

Larry Szczech will be appointed president of the Client Group at the Company where he will continue to lead the strategic direction of the client experience. This includes overseeing client segmentation initiatives and the delivery of client-driven products and services aimed to provide a superior, value-priced client experience. He will report directly to Joe Moglia.

As we move from a marketing to a marketing and sales-driven organization, I have every confidence that the expertise of our new management team will guide us thru a successful integration and into our next level of growth, said Joe Moglia, chief executive officer. I would also like to commend Anne Nelson for the contributions she has made, and am delighted that she will continue to work with us in an advisory role.

Associates:

I want to share several key leadership decisions we have made for TD Ameritrade following the close of the deal. A public announcement of this news is planned for tomorrow. Until then we ask that you keep this information confidential.

I am happy to announce that Randy MacDonald will continue in his role as Chief Financial Officer and Chief Administrative Officer and that Asiff Hirji will remain the Chief Operating Officer for TD Ameritrade. Both Randy and Asiff will continue as members of the Office of the Chief Executive (OCE), along with me, for TD Ameritrade. The OCE is a special advisory council that provides insight on key corporate matters.

We will be joined in the OCE by Chris Armstrong who is currently acting President and CEO of TD Waterhouse, and who has been selected to serve as Executive Vice President, Sales and Marketing in TD Ameritrade. In this role, Chris will oversee our evolution into a sales and marketing organization. Chris' team will include the branches and the institutional teams, which will be led by John Bunch and Tom Bradley respectively.

Laurine Garrity has been selected to serve as Chief Marketing Officer for TD Ameritrade reporting directly to Chris. She is currently Vice President of Program Marketing at Ameritrade, Inc.

Anne Nelson, the current Chief Marketing Officer at Ameritrade will continue to serve the Company in an advisory capacity.

Larry Szczech will be President of the Client Group. He will continue to lead the strategic direction of that group. This includes overseeing our segmentation initiatives and the delivery of client-driven products and services. Larry will report directly to me.

As we make this important transition to a more sales focused organization, we will look to these leaders to guide and help implement critical strategic initiatives. I hope you will join me in congratulating Randy, Asiff, Chris, Laurine, and Larry.

Thanks,

Ameritrade Confidential. Please remember that everything we disclose is proprietary to Ameritrade and must not be communicated outside of the company.
