11. Segment Reporting

Operating segments are defined as components of an enterprise about which separate financial information is available that is regularly reviewed by the chief operating decision maker in deciding how to allocate resources and in assessing performance. Reportable segments consist of one or more operating segments with similar economic characteristics, products and services, production processes, type of customer, distribution system and regulatory environment. The information provided for Segment Reporting is based on internal reports utilized by management. Results of operations are reported through three reportable segments: BankAtlantic, Ryan Beck and Parent Company. The Parent Company includes the operations of BankAtlantic Bancorp as well as acquisition related expenses.

The following summarizes the aggregation of the Company's operating segments into reportable segments:

Reportable Segment

BankAtlantic
Ryan Beck
Parent Company

Operating Segments Aggregated

Community Banking, Commercial Lending, and Bank Investments.
Private Client Group, Investment Banking and Capital Markets.
BankAtlantic Bancorp's operations, costs of acquisitions and financing activities.

The accounting policies of the segments are generally the same as those described in the summary of significant accounting policies in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2004. Intersegment transactions consist of shared services such as risk management consulting and investment banking placement and advisory fees which are eliminated in consolidation. The presentation and allocation of assets and results of operations may not reflect the actual economic costs of the segments as stand-alone businesses. If a different basis of allocation were utilized, the relative contributions of the segments might differ, but management believes that the relative trends in segments would likely not be impacted.

15. New Accounting Pronouncements

In June 2005 the Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) issued EITF 04-05 Determining Whether a General Partner, or the General Partners as a Group, Controls a Limited Partnership or Similar Entity When the Limited Partners Have Certain Rights . The Task Force reached a consensus that the general partners in a limited partnership are presumed to control the limited partnership regardless of the extent of the general partners' ownership interest in the limited partnership. This presumption can be overcome if the limited partners have either (a) the substantive ability to dissolve (liquidate) the limited partnership or otherwise remove the general partners without cause or (b) substantive participating rights. The guidance in this issue is effective after June 29, 2005 for new limited partnerships formed and for existing limited partnerships for which the partnership agreements are modified. The guidance in this issue is effective no later than the beginning of the first reporting period in fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2005 for existing limited partnerships. Management does not believe that the Task Force consensus in EITF 04-05 will have a material effect on the Company's financial statements.

In May 2005, FASB issued Statement No. 154 Accounting Changes and Error Corrections - A Replacement of APB Opinion No. 20 and FASB No. 3 . This Statement requires retrospective application to prior periods' financial statements of changes in accounting principle. This Statement defines retrospective application as the application of a different accounting principle to prior accounting periods as if that principle had always been used or as the adjustment of previously issued financial statements to reflect a change in the reporting entity. This Statement also requires that a change in depreciation, amortization, or depletion method for long-lived, nonfinancial assets be accounted for as a change in accounting estimate. The Statement is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2005. Management does not believe that the adoption of this Statement will have a material effect on the Company's financial statements.

In December 2004, FASB issued Statement No. 123 (revision) Share-based payments. This Statement is a revision of FASB Statement No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation and supersedes APB Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, and its related implementation guidance. This Statement focuses primarily on accounting for transactions in which an entity obtains employee services in share-based payment transactions. The Statement eliminated the accounting for share-based transactions under APB No. 25 and its related interpretations, instead requiring all share-based payments to be accounted for using a fair value method. The Statement can be adopted using the Modified Prospective Application or the Modified Retrospective Application. Under the modified prospective application, this Statement applies to new awards granted after the effective date and to unvested awards at the effective date. Under the modified retrospective application, the Company would apply the modified prospective method, but also restate the prior financial statements to include the amounts that were previously recognized in the pro forma disclosures under Statement No. 123. The Statement was originally to be effective for public companies as of the beginning of the first interim or annual reporting period that begins after June 15, 2005. In April 2005 the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) issued a final rule to amend the effective date of the Statement for public companies to the first interim or annual reporting period of the registrant 's first fiscal year beginning after June 15, 2005. Also, on March 29, 2005 the SEC issued Staff Accounting Bulletin (SAB) No. 107. SAB No. 107 expresses the staff 's views of the interaction between FASB Statement No. 123R, Share-Based Payment, and certain SEC rules and regulations. SAB No. 107 also addresses the valuation of share-based payment arrangements for public companies. Management is currently evaluating the Statement, the SEC 's guidance and the two transitional applications, and anticipates adopting the Statement as of January 1, 2006. Management estimates that compensation expense resulting from currently unvested options at the adoption date would be approximately $11.6 million to be recorded over the remaining weighted average vesting period of approximately three years.

Critical Accounting Policies

Management views critical accounting policies as accounting policies that are important to the understanding of our financial statements and also involve estimates and judgments about inherently uncertain matters. In preparing the financial statements, management is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities as of the date of the consolidated statements of financial condition and assumptions that affect the recognition of income and expenses on the statement of operations for the periods presented. Actual results could differ significantly from those estimates. Material estimates that are particularly susceptible to significant change in subsequent periods relate to the determination of the allowance for loan losses, evaluation of goodwill and other intangible assets for impairment, the valuation of real estate held for development and real estate acquired in connection with foreclosure or in satisfaction of loans, the valuation of the fair value of assets and liabilities in the application of the purchase method of accounting, the amount of the deferred tax asset valuation allowance, and accounting for contingencies. The six accounting policies that we have identified as critical accounting policies are: (i) allowance for loan losses; (ii) valuation of securities as well as the determination of other-than-temporary declines in value; (iii) impairment of goodwill and other intangible assets; (iv) impairment of long-lived assets; (v) accounting for business combinations and (vi) accounting for contingencies. For a more detailed discussion of these critical accounting policies see Critical Accounting Policies appearing in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2004.

Net income	$24,537	$18,260	$6,277	$44,415	$38,784	$ 5,631

For the Three Months Ended June 30, 2005 Compared to the Same 2004 Period:

Net income increased 34% to $24.5 million for the second quarter 2005, up from $18.3 million earned in the 2004 quarter. The 2005 quarter includes a $2.4 million after-tax impairment charge associated with a decision to vacate and raze BankAtlantic's former headquarters in conjunction with the opening of a new corporate headquarters building. Excluding the effect of this item, net income for the quarter would have increased 48% to $26.9 million.

BankAtlantic's segment net income was favorably impacted by a substantial improvement in its net interest income and growth in non-interest income, including revenues from a real estate joint venture. These items were partially offset by higher operating expenses, an impairment charge, and a higher provision for credit losses.

The significant increase in BankAtlantic's net interest income was due to earning asset growth and continued improvement in its net interest margin. The improved net interest margin resulted from a combination of several factors, including the continued growth of low cost deposits and earning asset yields.

The higher noninterest income was directly related to service charges associated with growth in the number of deposit accounts from initiatives adopted in connection with BankAtlantic's Florida's Most Convenient Bank marketing campaign.

The above improvements in BankAtlantic's earnings were partially offset by higher advertising and operating expenses relating to several new initiatives associated with the Florida's Most Convenient Bank campaign which were designed to enhance customer service and convenience.

The change in the provision for loan losses was primarily due to lower loan recoveries, and a higher allowance for home equity loan losses.

The substantial increase in Ryan Beck segment earnings was due to the completion of a large mutual to stock transaction, in which Ryan Beck served as joint lead manager on the syndicated offering and sole manager on the subscription offering. The transaction was the largest single transaction in Ryan Beck's history. In this transaction, 393 million shares of stock were issued and a total of $3.9 billion was raised. As a result, Ryan Beck's net income rose 86% to $13.0 million for the quarter, vs. $7.0 million in 2004.

Parent Company segment net loss in 2005 was consistent with 2004. Higher interest expenses from floating rate junior subordinated debentures were partially offset by lower professional fees associated with the parent company segment compliance with the Sarbanes Oxley Act.

For the Six Months Ended June 30, 2005 Compared to the Same 2004 Period:

Net income increased 15% from the same 2004 period. The 2005 period was affected by the impairment charge discussed above, while net income in the first six months of 2004 included the recognition of a $22.8 million pre-tax gain in connection with a March 2004 settlement of litigation with a technology company in which the Company was an investor. This settlement gain was partially offset by prepayment penalties of $11.7 million (pre-tax) in the 2004 period that BankAtlantic incurred by prepaying high fixed interest rate FHLB advances totaling $108 million. Excluding the impact of the impairment charge in 2005, the litigation settlement gain and the cost associated with FHLB advance prepayment penalties in 2004, net income would have increased 48% to $46.8 million for the first six months of 2005, compared to $31.6 million earned for the corresponding period in 2004.

BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.

For the Three Months Ended June 30, 2005 Compared to the Same 2004 Period:

The substantial improvement in tax equivalent net interest income primarily resulted from a 33% increase in average interest earning assets and a 17 basis point improvement in the net interest margin.

BankAtlantic's average interest earning asset balances increased primarily due to the purchase of residential loans and investments. To a lesser extent, we also experienced growth in our home equity and commercial real estate loan portfolios. The growth in our interest earning assets was funded through deposit growth, short term borrowings and Libor-based FHLB advances.

The improvement in our tax equivalent net interest margin primarily resulted from changes in our deposit mix to a higher percentage of low cost deposits to total deposits as well as increased yields from most earning assets. Low cost deposits are savings, NOW and demand deposits, and these now comprise 54% of total deposits. Since June 2004, the prime interest rate has increased from 4.00% to 6.25%. This increase has favorably impacted the yields on earning assets, which were partially offset by higher rates on our short term borrowings, certificate accounts, money market deposits, Libor-based FHLB advances and long term debt. BankAtlantic believes that it could potentially continue to realize some margin improvement in a rising rate environment; however, a prolonged flattening of the yield curve could lessen or prevent further net interest margin improvement.

For the Six Months Ended June 30, 2005 Compared to the Same 2004 Period:

The change in net charge-offs / recoveries primarily resulted from a $2.1 million recovery in the 2004 second quarter of a residential construction loan that was charged off in 2002 and lower net recoveries associated with discontinued loan products. The remaining balance of these discontinued loan products declined to $5.3 million at June 30, 2005 from $19.6 million at June 30, 2004. Discontinued loan products are lease financing, indirect consumer lending, non-real estate syndication lending, and certain types of small business lending. Additionally in the current period, approximately $300,000 was charged off related to a small business loan to a plumbing contractor and approximately $400,000 was charged off related to aviation leases. For the six month period ended June 30, 2005 net recoveries included a $1.1 million partial recovery of a commercial business loan that had been charged off during the third quarter of 2003.

The provision for loan losses during the current quarter primarily resulted from the net charge-offs discussed above and an increase in the allowance for home equity loans. Management increased the allowance for home equity loans based on an analysis of the portfolio which included a review of the portfolios' loan to value ratios. Management believes that probable inherent losses in the home equity loan portfolio at June 30, 2005 are greater than the historical loss experience as a result of the significant increase in borrower monthly payments in connection with their adjustable-rate first mortgages, the substantial increase in the amount of interest only first mortgage loans being offered in the market (such loans being superior to the Bank's second mortgage), and the increase in short-term interest rates from June 2004.

The provision for loan losses was a net recovery during the current six month period ended June 30 due to the commercial business loan recovery, declining reserves for discontinued loan products and the repayment of a large classified loan. The negative provisions for loan losses during the 2004 periods were primarily due to the $2.1 million residential construction loan recovery and discontinued loan product recoveries.

BankAtlantic's allowance for loan losses was 0.90% and 1.20% of total loans at June 30, 2005 and 2004, respectively. The historically low charge-off experience and the resulting decrease in the allowance for loan losses as a percent of total loans reflect an improvement in credit quality, an increased percentage of residential loans with historically lower charge off experience, and the continued run-off of discontinued loan products in the portfolio.

Non-performing assets remain at historically low levels. Non-performing assets to total loans, tax certificates and reposessed assets declined from 0.36% at June 30, 2004 to 0.19% and 0.16% at December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005, respectively. The improvement in nonaccrual loans at June 30, 2005 compared to December 31, 2004 resulted from declines in non-performing residential loans and a repossession of residential real estate associated with a home equity loan that was transferred to real estate owned during the first quarter of 2005 and sold during the second quarter for a $185,000 gain. The higher reposessed asset balances primarily resulted from properties acquired through tax certificate activities and to a lesser extent the repossession of an aircraft that served as collateral under leases included in the discontinued leasing portfolio.

The higher non-interest income during 2005 reflects the opening of 270,000 new deposit accounts since January 2004, including nearly 49,000 new accounts during the second quarter of 2005. The higher revenues from service charges on deposits during 2005 primarily resulted from an increase in fees assessed on overdrafts. Additionally, new ATM and check cards are linked to the new checking and savings accounts; therefore, the increase in accounts results in increases in interchange fees, annual fees and transaction fees on our customers' use of other banks' ATM's.

Real estate income reflects the activity of a joint venture acquired as part of the Community acquisition. The increase in real estate income reflects an increase in the number of units closed by the joint venture, compared to the same 2004 periods. During the three and six months ended June 30, 2005, the joint venture had closings of 8 units and 20 units, respectively. During the same 2004 periods, the joint venture closed on 5 units and 7 units, respectively.

Other income for the three months ended June 30, 2005 was favorably impacted by the sale of a lot adjacent to a branch for a $293,000 gain and higher official check fees attributable to an increase in short term interest rates. Included in other income during the six month period ended June 30, 2005 was a $922,000 gain on the sale of a branch. The branch was acquired in March 2002 in connection with the Community acquisition. The branch was not close to any other branches, and was not meeting performance expectations. Additionally, the remote location of the branch resulted in higher than average operating expenses.

In addition to annual employee salary increases, the substantial increase in employee compensation and benefits during the three and six months ended June 30, 2005, compared to the same 2004 periods, resulted primarily from Florida's Most Convenient Bank initiatives, which include midnight hours at selected branches, extended hours at all locations, free online banking and bill pay, 24/7 customer service center and the opening of all locations seven days a week as well as the expansion of BankAtlantic's branch network. The initiatives and the growth in low cost deposit accounts were the primary causes for the increase in the number of full time equivalent employees to 1,719 at June 30, 2005 from 1,453 at June 30, 2004. In addition to the increase in employees, the costs incurred under BankAtlantic's profit sharing plan were $242,000 and $1.2 million higher during the 2005 three and six month periods compared to the same 2004 periods, respectively. The additional amounts accrued for the employee profit sharing plan were based on BankAtlantic exceeding targeted performance goals.

Occupancy and equipment expenses increased during the periods primarily due to extended weekend and weekday hours associated with the Florida's Most Convenient Bank initiatives, and a substantial increase in guard service expense. Also, during the current quarter, BankAtlantic completed a relocation into its new corporate center headquarters and incurred higher depreciation expense and costs related to the operations of the new facility. Repairs and maintenance were higher during 2005 periods due to maintaining the appearances of the branch network and expanded corporate facilities to house the increased number of employees.

Advertising expenses during the first half of 2005 increased significantly from those incurred during the comparable 2004 period as a direct result of an aggressive BankAtlantic marketing campaign during 2005 that included television and radio advertising to promote the Florida's Most Convenient Bank initiative. The marketing campaign is ongoing and BankAtlantic anticipates continued higher advertising and promotion expenditures during the 2005 fiscal year compared to those incurred during the 2004 fiscal year.

In 2004, the cost associated with debt redemption was the result of a prepayment penalty of $11.7 million incurred when BankAtlantic prepaid $108 million of FHLB advances scheduled to mature in 2007-2008 that had an average interest rate of 5.55%. The interest rates on these FHLB advances exceeded the rates that BankAtlantic was able to obtain on other available FHLB advances, and therefore BankAtlantic expects to recover this expense in future periods through the savings realized from lower borrowing costs.

The higher expenses for professional fees in 2005, compared to 2004, primarily resulted from consulting costs and professional fees associated with the Bank's compliance efforts relating to anti-terrorism and anti-money laundering laws and regulations (See BankAtlantic Liquidity and Capital Resources - Compliance Matters). Internal and external audit expenses also increased as a result of the enhanced procedures required under Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act.

The current 2005 quarter includes a $3.7 million impairment charge associated with a decision to vacate and raze the Bank's former headquarters.

The increase in other non-interest expense relates to higher general operating expenses related to a significant increase in the number of customer accounts and the extended hours of the branch network. Additionally, office supplies were purchased and moving expenses were incurred in connection with relocation to new corporate offices.

For the Three and Six Months Ended June 30, 2005 Compared to the Same 2004 Period:

Segment net income increased primarily as a result of higher investment banking business, as Ryan Beck recorded record quarterly investment banking revenue primarily due to a large mutual to stock transaction managed by Ryan Beck.

Net interest income was relatively flat for the three and six months ended June 30, 2005, compared to the same 2004 periods. Included in interest income is Ryan Beck's participation in interest income associated with approximately $233 million of customer margin debit balances and fees earned in connection with approximately $1.1 billion in customer money market balances.

Table of Contents

BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.

Principal transaction revenue increased by 69% and 20% compared to the same three and six month periods in 2004, respectively, primarily due to the large mutual to stock transaction managed by Ryan Beck in which principal gross sales credits in excess of $16.5 million were recorded. This increase was partially offset by Ryan Beck's proprietary equity and fixed income trading revenue decreasing 25% and 85% during the same periods, respectively, as reflected in the decrease in the general stock market indices and the continued flattening of the yield curve.

Investment banking revenue increased by 41% and 22% compared to the same three and six months ended June 30, 2004. In addition to the large mutual to stock transaction managed by Ryan Beck, the increase was also attributable to consulting, merger and acquisition fees, due to higher deal activity. During the second quarter of 2005, the Financial Institutions Group completed nine capital financing transactions as compared to four for the same 2004 quarter. For the six months period ended June 30, 2005, Ryan Beck's Financial Institutions Group participated in raising over $4.3 billion in capital financing transactions versus $1.2 billion through the six months ended June 30, 2004.

Commission revenue decreased by 12% and 14% from the same three and six months ended June 30, 2004, attributable mainly to decreased agency transaction volume in 2005.

Other income is primarily comprised of rebates received on customer money market balances and inactive fees received on customer accounts.

Employee compensation and benefits increased by 24% and 5% from the same quarter and six month period of 2004, primarily due to the increase in bonus accruals as a result of the increased investment banking revenue in 2005 versus 2004 as well as increased salaries associated with the firm's capital markets growth.

Occupancy and equipment increased by 11% and 19% from the same quarter and six month period of 2004, attributable mainly to the firm's continued expansion throughout 2004. During 2004, Ryan Beck opened three new offices, including the relocation of its corporate headquarters, and had significant expenses associated with the expansion of other offices.

Advertising and promotion increased 37% and 17% from the same quarter and six month period of 2004, mainly due to Ryan Beck's advertising campaign which ran through the second quarter of 2005 as well as increased travel and entertainment expenses primarily due to the expansion of Ryan Beck's capital markets business.

Professional fees increased 20% and 27% from the same quarter and six month period of 2004. The increase is primarily due to increases in fees associated with additional internal and external audit fees, as well as consulting fees associated with various administrative projects.

The decrease in floor broker and clearing fees is due to the decrease in transactional business in 2005, as compared to 2004.

Communications increased 20% and 11% from the same quarter and six month period of 2004. The increase is primarily due to the addition of branch locations throughout 2004 and the increase in capital markets personnel in 2005.

Parent Company interest income during the three and six month periods ended June 30, 2005 and 2004 primarily represents interest income recognized by the Company on loans to Levitt and interest income earned on short-term investments with a money manager.

Interest expense increased during the first half of 2005, compared to the same 2004 period, as a result of higher interest rates. The Company's junior subordinated debentures and other borrowings balances were $263.3 million at June 30, 2005 and 2004, of which $128.9 million bear interest at floating rates.

The litigation settlement in 2004 reflects proceeds from the settlement of litigation related to the Company's prior investment of $15 million in a technology company. Pursuant to that settlement, the Company sold its stock in the technology company to a third party investor group for $15 million in cash, the Company's original cost, and the Company received consideration from the technology company for legal expenses and damages, which consisted of $1.7 million in cash and 378,160 shares of the Company's Class A Common Stock returned by the technology company to the Company.

The Company's compensation expense represents salaries for investor relations, risk management and executive management personnel. The Company's other income represents amounts received from Levitt and BFC for services performed by these employees. The increase in compensation expense during the 2005 period was due to a larger number of employees at the parent company during 2005 and to payroll taxes associated with the exercise of stock options. The additional employees were transferred from BankAtlantic.

Professional fees during the 2005 period represented costs incurred for general corporate matters while professional fees during 2004 period were primarily costs incurred in connection with Sarbanes-Oxley Act compliance matters.

BankAtlantic Bancorp Consolidated Financial Condition

We had total assets of $6.7 billion at June 30, 2005 compared to $6.4 billion at December 31, 2004. The increase in total assets primarily resulted from:

Purchase of approximately $486 million of residential real estate loans;

Origination of or participation in $705 million of commercial and small business loans;

Origination of approximately $238 million of home equity loans;

Purchase of approximately $58 million of mortgage-backed securities;

Purchase of approximately $54 million of tax-exempt securities;

Purchase of approximately $119 million of managed-fund securities;

Additions of $17 million of fixed assets associated with the Company's new corporate headquarters building, BankAtlantic's branch renovation and expansion initiatives partially offset by a $3.7 million fixed asset impairment associated with the relocation of the Company's corporate headquarters;

An increase in the receivable from Ryan Beck's clearing agent partially offset by a corresponding decrease in securities owned associated with Ryan Beck's trading activities;

Higher other assets balances related to $19.6 million of fees due from other broker dealers associated with the large mutual to stock transaction managed by Ryan Beck;

Increases in accrued interest receivable due to higher loans receivable and securities balances; and Higher Federal Home Loan Bank stock balances associated with increased stock ownership membership requirements that went into effect during the first quarter of 2005 as well as an increase in FHLB advances. The above increases in total assets were partially offset by:

Lower real estate held for development and sale associated with units closed at the Riverclub real estate joint venture acquired by BankAtlantic in connection with the 2002 Community acquisition;

Loan, investment securities and tax certificate repayments and maturities of approximately $1.4 billion; and Principal reductions of $38 million of loans to Levitt.

We had total liabilities of $6.2 billion at June 30, 2005 compared to $5.9 billion at December 31, 2004. The increase in total liabilities resulted from:

Higher deposit account balances primarily resulting from the growth in low-cost deposits associated with Florida's Most Convenient Bank and totally free checking account initiatives; and Higher FHLB advance borrowings used to fund loan and investment securities growth. The above increases in total liabilities were partially offset by:

A decrease in securities sold but not yet purchased associated with Ryan Beck's trading activities;

A decrease in other liabilities primarily due to a $22 million decline in securities purchased pending settlement partially offset by a $14 million increase in current taxes payable associated with second quarter earnings; and Lower short term borrowings due to the utilization of short-term FHLB advances to partially replace repurchase agreements and federal funds purchased borrowings.

Stockholders' equity at June 30, 2005 was $510.4 million compared to $469.3 million at December 31, 2004. The increase was primarily attributable to $44.4 million of earnings and $6.1 million from the issuance of common stock and associated tax benefits upon the exercise of stock options. The above increases in stockholders' equity were partially offset by $4.2 million of dividends on our common stock, a $347,000 reduction in additional paid in capital resulting from the retirement of 90,000 shares of Ryan Beck's common stock issued upon the exercise of employee stock options in June 2004, a $263,000 other comprehensive loss, net of income tax benefits, and a $4.6 million reduction in additional paid in capital related to the acceptance of Class A common stock as consideration for the payment of withholding taxes and the exercise price which were due upon the exercise of Class A common stock options by various executive officers of the Company.

Table of ContentsBankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.*Liquidity and Capital Resources*BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc. Liquidity and Capital Resources

The Company's principal source of liquidity is dividends from BankAtlantic and, to a lesser extent, Ryan Beck. The Company also obtains funds through the issuance of equity and debt securities, borrowings from financial institutions, repayment of principal and interest on subsidiary loans and loans to Levitt, and liquidation of equity securities and other investments it holds and management fees from subsidiaries and affiliates. The Company uses these funds to contribute capital to its subsidiaries, pay debt service, repay borrowings, purchase equity securities, pay dividends and fund operations. The Company's annual debt service associated with its junior subordinated debentures is approximately $18.7 million. The Company's estimated current annual dividends to common shareholders are approximately $8.5 million. During the six months ended June 30, 2005, the Company received $10.0 million of dividends from BankAtlantic. The declaration and payment of dividends and the ability of the Company to meet its debt service obligations will depend upon the results of operations, financial condition and cash requirements of the Company as well as indenture restrictions and on the ability of BankAtlantic to pay dividends to the Company. These payments are subject to regulations and OTS approval and are based upon BankAtlantic's regulatory capital levels and net income. In addition, Ryan Beck paid $5.0 million in dividends to the Company during the year ended December 31, 2004. Future dividend payments by Ryan Beck will depend upon the results of operations, financial condition and capital requirements of Ryan Beck.

In connection with the Levitt spin-off, a $30.0 million demand note owed by Levitt to the Company was converted to a five year term note and prior to the spin-off, Levitt declared an $8.0 million dividend to the Company payable in the form of a note. In March 2005, the $8.0 million note was paid in full and the $30.0 million note was paid down to $16.0 million. In May 2005, Levitt repaid the remaining $16 million on the $30 million note. The proceeds from the loan payments were invested in managed funds with a third party money manager. It is anticipated that these funds will be invested in this manner until needed to fund the operations of the Company and its subsidiaries, which may include acquisitions, BankAtlantic's branch expansion and renovation strategy, or other business purposes.

In March 2005, the Company repaid the remaining $100,000 under a revolving credit facility with an independent financial institution. In May 2005, the Company entered into a modification agreement to the revolving credit facility reducing the commitment amount from $30 million to $20 million and extending the maturity date from March 1, 2005 to March 1, 2007. The credit facility contains customary covenants, including financial covenants relating to BankAtlantic's regulatory capital and maintenance by BankAtlantic of certain loan loss reserves, and is secured by the common stock of BankAtlantic. The Company has used this credit facility to temporarily fund acquisitions and asset purchases as well as for general corporate purposes. The Company is in compliance with all loan covenants. Amounts outstanding accrue interest at the prime rate minus 50 basis points. There were no amounts outstanding under this credit facility as of June 30, 2005.

BankAtlantic Liquidity and Capital Resources

BankAtlantic's liquidity will depend on its ability to generate sufficient cash to support loan demand, to meet deposit withdrawals, and to pay operating expenses. BankAtlantic's securities portfolio provides an internal source of liquidity through its short-term investments as well as scheduled maturities and interest payments. Loan repayments and sales also provide an internal source of liquidity.

BankAtlantic's primary sources of funds are deposits; principal repayments of loans, tax certificates and investment securities; proceeds from the sale of loans and securities available for sale; proceeds from securities sold under agreements to repurchase and federal funds purchased; advances from FHLB; interest payments on loans and securities; and funds generated by operations. These funds were primarily utilized to fund loan disbursements and purchases, deposit outflows, repayments of securities sold under agreements to repurchase, repayments of advances from FHLB, purchases of tax certificates and investment securities, payments of maturing certificates of deposit, payments of operating expenses and payments of dividends to the Company. The FHLB has granted BankAtlantic a line of credit capped at 30% of assets subject to available collateral, with a maximum term of ten years. BankAtlantic has utilized its FHLB line of credit to borrow $1.7 billion at June 30, 2005. The line of credit is secured by a blanket lien on BankAtlantic's residential mortgage loans and certain commercial real estate and consumer loans.

BankAtlantic's available borrowings under this line of credit were approximately $224 million at June 30, 2005. BankAtlantic has established lines of credit for up to $390 million with other banks to purchase federal funds of which $109.5 million was outstanding at June 30, 2005. BankAtlantic has also established a $7 million potential advance with the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta. BankAtlantic has various relationships to acquire brokered deposits, which may be utilized as an alternative source of borrowings, if needed. At June 30, 2005, BankAtlantic had $104.7 million of outstanding brokered deposits.

Table of ContentsBankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.

BankAtlantic's commitments to originate and purchase loans at June 30, 2005 were approximately $421.2 million and $13.0 million, respectively, compared to $434.0 million and $89.9 million, respectively, at June 30, 2004. Additionally, BankAtlantic had no commitments to purchase securities at June 30, 2005 compared to $7.1 million at June 30, 2004. Commitments to extend credit including the undisbursed portion of loans in process was $1.2 billion and $1.1 billion at June 30, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

In 2004, BankAtlantic announced its de novo branch expansion strategy to open between eight to ten branches in 2005, subject to required regulatory approvals. In view of identified issues concerning BankAtlantic's compliance with the USA Patriot Act, Bank Secrecy Act and anti-money laundering laws, there is no assurance that BankAtlantic will not face delays in obtaining regulatory approvals. However, at this time, it is anticipated that delays, if any occur, would not materially alter the course or scope of BankAtlantic's branching strategy. The estimated cost of constructing the planned de novo branches is approximately $18 million. During the first half of 2005 BankAtlantic opened three de novo branches involving aggregate expenditures of approximately $2.3 million. BankAtlantic has also entered into purchase commitments to acquire land for de novo branch expansion with an aggregate purchase price of $2.2 million, subject to the satisfactory completion of due diligence.

In June 2004, BankAtlantic's management finalized a plan to renovate the majority of BankAtlantic's existing branches. The renovation of these branches is projected to be completed during 2006 at an estimated cost of $13 million. BankAtlantic has incurred approximately $7.8 million in renovation costs on branch facilities as of June 30, 2005.

At June 30, 2005, BankAtlantic met all applicable liquidity and regulatory capital requirements.

Compliance Matter

BankAtlantic continues to address compliance issues relating to the USA Patriot Act, anti-money laundering laws and the Bank Secrecy Act. Our compliance improvements include revised technology and systems and procedures, and a substantial increase to compliance staffing. The 2005 run-rate impact of these on-going compliance-related costs is estimated to be $2.5 million annually. BankAtlantic cannot predict whether or to what extent monetary or other restrictions or penalties might be imposed upon it by regulators or other federal agencies relating to compliance deficiencies. Other financial institutions have been required to enter into materially restrictive regulatory agreements and to pay substantial fines and assessments in connection with their activities and compliance deficiencies.

BankAtlantic Bancorp and BankAtlantic may be the subject of similar civil and criminal regulatory proceedings and actions and may be required to pay fines or penalties which may be similar to, greater than or less than those imposed on other institutions. See the Company's Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2005.

Ryan Beck & Co., Inc. Liquidity and Capital Resources

Ryan Beck's primary sources of funds during the six months ended June 30, 2005 were clearing broker borrowings, proceeds from the sale of securities owned, proceeds from securities sold but not yet purchased, loan repayments, fees from customers and funds generated from operations. These funds were primarily utilized to pay operating expenses and fund capital expenditures.

In the ordinary course of business, Ryan Beck borrows funds under an agreement with its clearing broker and pledges securities owned as collateral primarily to finance its trading inventories. The amount and terms of the borrowings are subject to the lending policies of the clearing broker and can be changed at the clearing broker's discretion. Additionally, the amount financed is also impacted by the market value of the securities pledged as collateral.

Ryan Beck is subject to the net capital provision of Rule 15c3-1 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, not to exceed 15 to 1. Additionally, Ryan Beck, as a market maker, is subject to supplemental requirements of Rule 15c3-1(a) 4, which provides for the computation of net capital to be based on the number of and price of issues in which markets are made by Ryan Beck, not to exceed $1.0 million. Ryan Beck's regulatory net capital was $39.0 million, which was $38.0 million in excess of its required net capital of $1.0 million at June 30, 2005.

Ryan Beck operates under the provisions of paragraph (k)(2)(ii) of Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities and Exchange Commission as a fully disclosed introducing broker and, accordingly, customer accounts are carried on the books of the clearing broker. However, Ryan Beck safekeeps and redeems municipal bond coupons for the benefit of its customers. Accordingly, Ryan Beck is subject to the provisions of SEC Rule 15c3-3 relating to possession or control and customer reserve requirements and was in compliance with such provisions at June 30, 2005.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures about Market Risk

Market risk is defined as the risk of loss arising from adverse changes in market valuations that arise from interest rate risk, foreign currency exchange rate risk, commodity price risk and equity price risk. Our primary market risk is interest rate risk and our secondary market risk is equity price risk.

Interest Rate Risk

The majority of BankAtlantic's assets and liabilities are monetary in nature, subjecting us to significant interest rate risk in that their value fluctuates with changes in interest rates. We have developed a model using standard industry software to quantify our interest rate risk. A sensitivity analysis was performed measuring our potential gains and losses in net portfolio fair values of interest rate sensitive instruments at June 30, 2005 resulting from a change in interest rates. Interest rate sensitive instruments included in the model are:

- Loans,
- Debt securities available for sale,
- Investment securities,
- FHLB stock,
- Federal funds sold,
- Deposits,
- Advances from FHLB,
- Securities sold under agreements to repurchase,
- Federal funds purchased,
- Subordinated debentures,
- Notes and bonds payable, and
- Junior subordinated debentures.

The model calculates the net potential gains and losses in net portfolio fair value by:

- i. Discounting anticipated cash flows from existing assets and liabilities at market rates to determine fair values at June 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004,
- ii. Discounting the above expected cash flows based on instantaneous and parallel shifts in the yield curve to determine fair values; and
- iii. Calculating the difference between the fair value calculated in (i) and (ii).

Management has made estimates of fair value discount rates that it believes to be reasonable. However, because there is no quoted market for many of these financial instruments, management has no basis to determine whether the fair value presented would be indicative of the value that could be attained in an actual sale. Our fair value estimates do not consider the tax effect that would be associated with the disposition of the assets or liabilities at their fair value estimates.

Subordinated debentures and mortgage-backed bonds payable were valued for this purpose based on their contractual maturities or redemption date. The Company's interest rate risk policy has been approved by the Board of Directors and establishes guidelines for tolerance levels for net portfolio value changes based on interest rate volatility. Management has maintained the portfolio within these established guidelines.

Certain assumptions by the Company in assessing the interest rate risk were utilized in preparing the following tables. These assumptions related to:

- § Interest rates,
- § Loan prepayment rates,
- § Deposit runoff rates,
- § Non-maturing deposit servicing rates,
- § Market values of certain assets under various interest rate scenarios, and
- § Re-pricing of certain borrowings.

The tables below measure changes in net portfolio value for instantaneous and parallel shifts in the yield curve in 100 basis point increments up or down. It also assumes that delinquency rates would not change as a result of changes in interest rates, although there can be no assurance that this would be the case. Even if interest rates change in the designated increments, there can be no assurance that our assets and liabilities would perform as indicated in the tables below. In addition, a change in U.S. Treasury rates in the designated amounts accompanied by a change in the shape of the yield curve could cause significantly different changes to the fair values than indicated. Furthermore, the results of the calculations in the following preceding table are subject to significant deviations based upon actual future events, including anticipatory and reactive measures which we may take in the future.

Presented below is an analysis of the Company's interest rate risk at June 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004 calculated utilizing the Company's model (in thousands):

As of June 30, 2005Net Portfolio

Changes in Rate	Value Amount	Dollar Change
+200 bp	$867,516	$ 77,745
+100 bp	$861,125	$ 71,354
0	$789,771	$
-100 bp	$647,798	$(141,973)
-200 bp	$432,785	$(356,986)

As of December 31, 2004Net Portfolio

Changes in Rate	Value Amount	Dollar Change
+200 bp	$813,332	$ 77,676
+100 bp	$803,501	$ 67,845
0	$735,656	$
-100 bp	$596,126	$(139,530)
-200 bp	$406,938	$(328,718)

Deposit decay assumptions used in the model are as follows:

	Within 1 Year	1-3 Years	3-5 Years	Over 5 Years
Savings	16%	10%	10%	10%
Money market	83	15	15	15
NOW	7	6	6	6
Demand	14	6	6	6

The Company began utilizing this interest rate risk model in January 2005. The Company believes that this model enables management to evaluate the interest rate sensitivity of our interest earnings assets and interest bearing liabilities on a more specific asset and liability basis than the prior interest rate risk model. As a consequence, the December 31, 2004 amounts are also provided utilizing the new model. The change in the December 31, 2004 amounts from those calculated under the prior model was primarily due to a change in deposit decay rates. The decay rates utilized in the older model were based on industry averages, whereas the deposit decay rates utilized in the new model are based on BankAtlantic's historical experience as calculated by a third party.

BankAtlantic's tax equivalent net interest margin improved to 3.89% in the first six months of 2005 vs. 3.73% during the same 2004 period. This improvement in the net interest margin reflects a combination of several factors, including the continued growth of low cost deposits, which are more beneficial in higher rate periods, the repayment of certain high cost FHLB advances in prior periods, and higher earning asset yields. However, if the current interest rate environment should be prolonged, the flat yield curve may lessen or prevent further improvements in the net interest margin.

Management believes that BankAtlantic could potentially continue to realize some further margin improvement in a rising interest rate environment.

Equity Price RiskRyan Beck

The Company, through its broker/dealer subsidiary Ryan Beck, is exposed to market risk arising from trading and market making activities. Ryan Beck's market risk is the potential change in value of financial instruments caused by fluctuations in interest rates, equity prices, credit spreads and other market forces. Ryan Beck's management monitors risk in its trading activities by establishing limits and reviewing daily trading results, inventory aging, pricing, concentration and securities ratings. Ryan Beck uses a variety of tools, including aggregate and statistical methods. Value at Risk (VaR), is the principal statistical method used and measures the potential loss in the fair value of a portfolio due to adverse movements in underlying risk factors. Substantially all the trading inventory is subject to measurement using VaR.

Ryan Beck uses an historical simulation approach to measuring VaR using a 99% confidence level, a one day holding period and the most recent three months average volatility. The 99% VaR means that, on average, one would not expect to exceed such loss amount more than one time every one hundred trading days if the portfolio were held constant for a one-day period.

Modeling and statistical methods rely on approximations and assumptions that could be significant under certain circumstances. As such, the risk management process also employs other methods such as sensitivity to interest rates and stress testing.

The following table sets forth the high, low and average VaR for Ryan Beck for the six months ended June 30, 2005 (in thousands):

	High	Low	Average
VaR	$ 247	$ 22	$ 76
Aggregate Long Value	122,217	64,358	90,606
Aggregate Short Value	$ 54,457	$15,771	$35,651

The following table sets forth the high, low and average VaR for Ryan Beck for the year ended December 31, 2004 (in thousands):

	High	Low	Average
VaR	$ 1,747	$ 11	$ 336
Aggregate Long Value	112,494	43,431	72,787
Aggregate Short Value	$167,987	$23,851	$65,006

BankAtlantic Bancorp maintains a portfolio of equity securities that is managed to match the performance of stock indices. These equity portfolios subject us to equity pricing risks which would arise as the relative values of our equity investments change as a consequence of market or economic conditions. The change in fair values of equity investments represents instantaneous changes in all equity prices. The following are hypothetical changes in the fair value of our available for sale equity securities at June 30, 2005 based on percentage changes in fair value. Actual future price appreciation or depreciation may be different from the changes identified in the table below (dollars in thousands):

Percent Change in Fair Value	Available for Sale Securities Fair Value	Dollar Change
20%	$96,559	$ 16,093
10%	$88,513	$ 8,047
0%	$80,466	$
-10%	$72,419	$ (8,047)
-20%	$64,373	$(16,093)

Excluded from the above table are $1.8 million of investments in other financial institutions and $5.0 million invested in a limited partnership hedge fund specializing in bank equities, for which no current liquid market exists. The ability to realize or liquidate these investments will depend on future market conditions and is subject to significant risk.
