ARMONK, N.Y., July 17, 2008 . . . IBM (NYSE: IBM) today announced second-quarter 2008 diluted earnings of $1.98 per share from continuing operations, an increase of 28 percent as reported, compared with diluted earnings of $1.55 per share, including a 5 cents per share gain from the sale of the Printing Systems Division (PSD), in the second quarter of 2007. Excluding the gain in the prior-year period, diluted earnings for the second-quarter 2008 increased 32 percent year over year.

Second-quarter income from continuing operations was $2.8 billion, an increase of 22 percent, compared with $2.3 billion, including the gain from the sale of PSD, in the second quarter of 2007. Without the gain, income from continuing operations increased 26 percent versus the comparable period last year. Total revenues for the second quarter of 2008 of $26.8 billion increased 13 percent (6 percent, adjusting for currency) from the second quarter of 2007.

IBM had an outstanding quarter and a strong first half for 2008. These results demonstrate that IBM has the ability to thrive in both emerging and established markets. Once again, IBMers performed very well around the world, said Samuel J. Palmisano, IBM chairman, president and chief executive officer.

We are continuing to see the benefits of IBM's transformation in recent years. Today IBM is a company with a distinctive business model that gives us a competitive edge in a global economy. We enjoy a steady base of recurring revenue and profits; a truly global reach and scale; services and products that deliver genuine value to clients wherever they do business; and a strong and flexible financial foundation that generates powerful cash flow and fuels our investment in growth opportunities.

We feel good about our full-year outlook and our 2010 roadmap for $10 to $11 of earnings per share.

From a geographic perspective, the Americas' second-quarter revenues were $10.9 billion, an increase of 8 percent as reported (6 percent, adjusting for currency) from the 2007 period. Revenues from Europe/Middle East/Africa were $9.8 billion, up 20 percent (7 percent, adjusting for currency). Asia-Pacific revenues increased 16 percent (6 percent, adjusting for currency) to $5.3 billion.

RD&E expense increased 8 percent compared with the year-ago period. Intellectual property and custom development income increased to $285 million compared with $246 million a year ago. Interest expense increased to $145 million compared with $130 million, primarily due to the increase in debt to finance the company's accelerated share repurchase agreements.

IBM's effective tax rate in the second-quarter 2008 was 27.5 percent compared with 28.0 percent in the second quarter of 2007.

Shares repurchased in the second quarter were approximately $4.7 billion on a cash-paid basis. From a management segment view, Global Financing debt increased $639 million from year-end 2007 to a total of $25.2 billion at June 30, 2008, resulting in a debt-to-equity ratio of 6.8 to 1. Non-global financing debt, which reflects financial leverage associated with accelerated share repurchase agreements, totaled $9.1 billion, a decrease of $1.7 billion since year-end 2007, resulting in a debt-to-capitalization ratio of 26.9 percent from 30.0 percent at year-end 2007.
