Forward-Looking Statements

This communication contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the federal securities laws. These forward-looking statements are limited to, statements regarding Westlake Chemical Corporation's (Westlake) proposal to acquire Axiall Corporation (Axiall) (including financing of the proposed transaction and the benefits, results, effects and timing of a transaction), all statements regarding Westlake's (and Westlake's combined) expected future financial position, results of operations, cash flows, dividends, financing plans, business strategy, budgets, capital requirements, growth opportunities, plans and objectives of management, estimated synergies from the proposed transaction and similar forward-looking words, such as may, will, could, would, should, project, believe, anticipate, expect, intend, forecast, approximate, intend, upside, and the like, or the use of future tense. Statements contained herein concerning economic performance, anticipated profitability, revenues, expenses, dividends or other financial items, and product or service line growth of Westlake (and the combined businesses of Westlake and Axiall), together with other statements that are not historical facts, are forward-looking statements reflecting the best judgment of Westlake based upon currently available information. Statements concerning current conditions that they imply a continuation of current conditions.

Such forward-looking statements are inherently uncertain, and stockholders and other potential investors must recognize that actual results may differ from Westlake's expectations as a result of a variety of factors, including, without limitation, those discussed below. Such forward-looking statements are based upon management's current expectations and include known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors, many of which are beyond Westlake's control, that may cause Westlake's actual results, performance or plans with respect to Axiall to differ materially from any future results, performance or plans expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. These statements involve risks, uncertainties and other factors discussed from time to time in Westlake's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC).

Risks and uncertainties related to the proposed business combination transaction include, but are not limited to: (i) the ultimate consummation of the transaction between Westlake and Axiall, including the possibility that Axiall will not accept a transaction with Westlake, (ii) the ultimate outcome and results of integrating the operations of Westlake and Axiall if a transaction is consummated, (iii) the ability to obtain regulatory approvals and meet other closing conditions to any possible transaction, including any necessary stockholder approvals, (iv) potential adverse reactions or changes to business operations from the announcement, pendency or completion of the proposed transaction, (v) competitive responses to the announcement or consummation of the transaction, costs and difficulties related to the integration of Axiall's businesses and operations with Westlake's businesses and operations, (vi) the inability to obtain, or delays in obtaining, cost savings and synergies from the proposed transaction, (vii) uncertainties as to whether the consummation of the transaction or any transaction will have the accretive effect on Westlake's earnings or cash flows that it expects, (viii) unexpected expenses resulting from the proposed transaction, (ix) litigation relating to the proposed transaction, (x) the inability to retain key personnel, and (xi) changes in general economic and/or industry-specific conditions.

In addition to the factors set forth above, other factors that may affect Westlake's plans, results or stock price are set forth in Westlake's Annual Report on Form 10-K and in its reports on Forms 10-Q and 8-K.

Many of these factors are beyond Westlake's control. Westlake cautions investors that any forward-looking statements made here are based on current expectations of future performance. We do not intend, and undertake no obligation, to publish revised forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances after the date of this communication or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events.

No Alternative Other Than to Go Directly to Shareholders

Westlake continues to believe that its proposal is in the best interests of Axiall shareholders

The Revised Proposal represents significantly greater value and certainty than Westlake believes can be achieved by Axiall's standalone strategy

Cash component provides certainty at a premium to unaffected stock price and stock component allows for upside value creation in a larger and more diverse company

However, the Axiall

Board refuses to provide feedback or negotiate with Westlake regarding its Revised Proposal

As a result, Westlake is moving forward with the nomination of nine independent, experienced and highly-qualified directors
